Welcome!

Welcome to the Summer 2023 Metropolitan College Newsletter! Congratulations to all of our students for completing the Spring 2023 semester and for their hard work and dedication at UPS. This year has already been exciting! Metropolitan College kicked off their 25th Anniversary festivities at a UofL men's basketball game and partnered with Books for Babes on the Mayor's Give a Day of Service. MC had the honor of recognizing two of our exceptional students with the Outstanding Metropolitan College Student Award. MC also welcomed a new Student Success Counselor to our team, George Scott! Read through our newsletter for more information about what we have been up to!

OUTSTANDING MC STUDENT AWARD WINNERS

Every year, MC honors one Jefferson Community and Technical College student and one University of Louisville student to be recipients of the Outstanding Metropolitan College Student Award. This year's winners are Trent Saylor (UofL) and Andrew Abbott (JCTC). Click here to learn more about the award and this year's winners!

Trent (above) is currently studying Public Health at the University of Louisville. Trent is a Part-Time Supervisor at UPS and has been with the Metropolitan College program since Fall 2021.

Andrew (left) is currently studying Welding at Jefferson Community and Technical College. Andrew is currently a Package Handler. Andrew has been with the Metropolitan College program since Fall 2022.

This year Metropolitan College is celebrating its 25th anniversary! We will be celebrating all year long with different events throughout the year! Festivities kicked off in February when Metropolitan College was recognized at the UofL vs. Florida State men's basketball game. Our next event will take place in September at a Louisville Bats baseball game. Be on the lookout for communication regarding our upcoming events!

Books for Babes

On April 18th, Metropolitan College and UPS teamed up with Books for Babes for the Louisville Mayor's Give a Day of Service. Give a Day is the entire month of April and encourages everyone to become involved in volunteering to strengthen the Louisville community. Books for Babes is a non-profit that delivers books to local hospitals and encourages parents to read to their children starting from day one.

You can learn more about Books for Babes and get involved here. Together, UPS and MC stuffed R.E.A.D. totes to be delivered to local hospitals. These R.E.A.D. totes included one paperback book, one board book, a bookmark, information about the importance of reading and its impact on literacy, and information on local resources for parents.

Meet George!

George Scott III is a Louisville native. He graduated from The University of Louisville with a bachelor's degree in Pan-African Studies and completed his master's degree at Morehead State University in Adult and Higher Education. Professionally, George has served as a Kentucky College Coach with AmeriCorps and as an Academic Advisor at Jefferson Community & Technical College for five years. He is now a MC Student Success Counselor with Metropolitan College. George is also a member of Iota Phi Theta Fraternity Inc. and enjoys music, art, and spending time with friends and family. George joined the Metropolitan College team in April.
